ABOUT ME

I am a full-stack developer with a front-end focus and two years of experience in building modern web applications. Passionate about system infrastructure and the application lifecycle, I am committed to enhancing my technical expertise. In the short term, my goal is to deepen my front-end skills, tackle complex challenges, and expand my full-stack capabilities. In the long term, I aim to take on leadership roles, drive impactful projects, and mentor others, fostering innovation and meaningful growth in the tech industry.
